Firms in Defense Work, Bonds Sag

By WILLIAM FERRIS
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A new figure appeared on the American business scene this week, as unlikely a person as one could imagine: Comrade Nikita Khrushchev.

He appeared not with a bomb, but with a dove. The Soviet Premier and President Eisenhower startled the world by announcing they would exchange visits this month.

Immediately speculation arose over the possibility of an easing of international tensions. A major shift in policy between the two great powers could have profound economic effects.

The news did not, of course, show up in business statistics. But it did exert pressure on those sensitive barometers, the stock markets. Stocks of companies with large defense orders sagged for several days running.

Fewer Shares Sold

Stock sales totaled 12,768,484 shares in the latest week compared with 15,069,048 shares in the previous week and 18,523,120 shares in the same week last year. Bond sales had a par value of $28,045,000 in the latest week against $28,887,000 the week before and $30,445,600 in the same 1958 week.

The mood of market analysts became cautious. Said R. E. Buchsbaum of W. E. Hutton & Co.: "A reduction in tensions could mean less emphasis on defense and a stretchout of major military programs."

And Sidney B. Lurie of Josephthal & Co. commented, "Most assuredly, peace is bullish, but anything which hints of a smaller defense budget could be psychologically disturbing."

Many companies, both large and small, have orders based upon the defense program.

Room in Europe Market

The reaction of American stock exchanges varied from those in Europe. The Frankfurt, West Germany, market had a wild boom the day the news came out. The London stock market staged a very substantial advance throughout the week.

Meanwhile, back at the mill, silence reigned. The steel strike ended its third week, went into its fourth. Negotiators appeared to be making very little progress.

Moses Would Show Premier Around Niagara Project

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—Chairman Robert Moses of the State Power Authority says he'd be happy to show Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev around the Niagara Power Project.

The $720,000,000 hydroelectric plant will be the largest in the world outside of Russia when it is finished.

"We have something to show them," Moses said Friday. "They might be envious."

He said he did not know whether Khrushchev would visit Niagara Falls during his trip to the United States next month.

Moses and the other four trustees of the Authority toured the Niagara Power Project Friday. He said that local industry has asked for 80 per cent more power for their expansion programs than had been anticipated.

The authority had allocated them 200,000 kilowatts of the 2,190,000 kilowatts that will be provided. Moses said the increased request to cover expansion programs was 360,000 kilowatts.

Local industry also has 445,000 kilowatts set aside to cover its regular demands.

8 Blocks Sealed Off In Search for Bodies

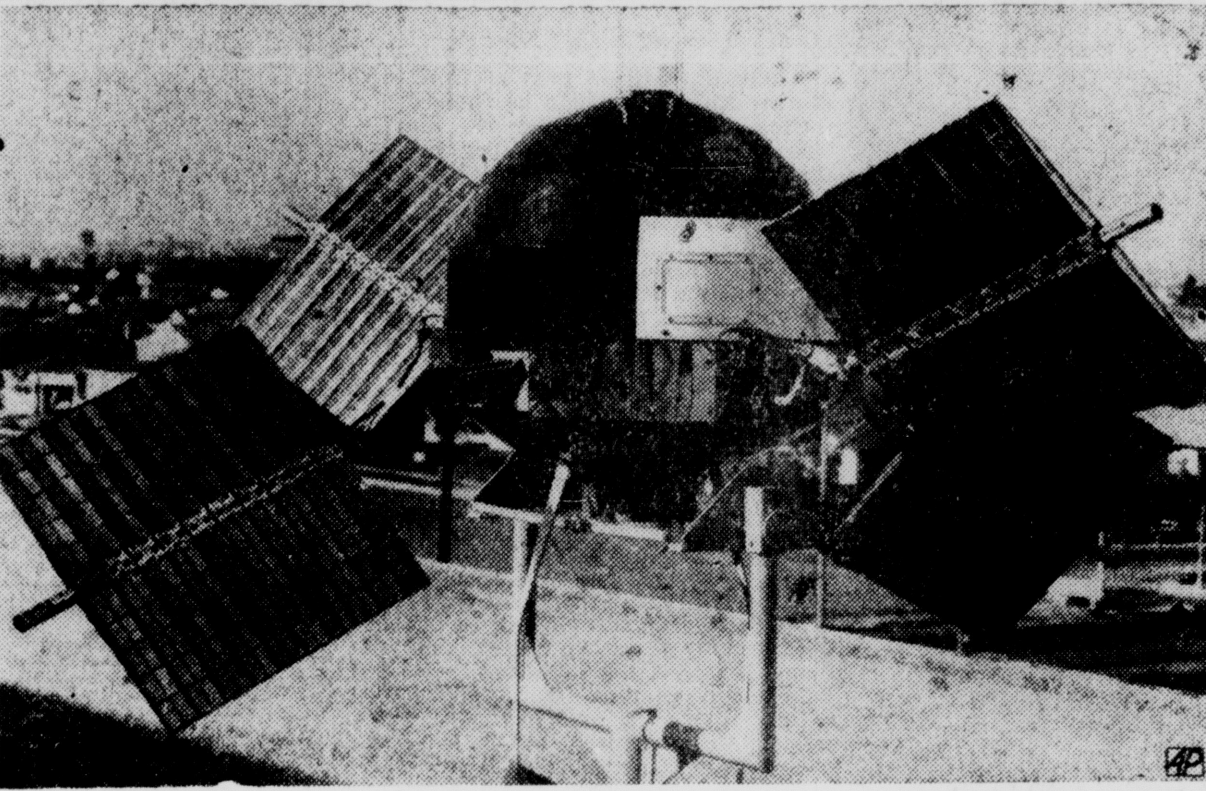

ROSEBURG, Ore. (AP)—Eight business blocks of this southern Oregon city, seared and shattered when a truck load of explosives blew up like a bomb, were sealed off by the National Guard today while searchers sought more victims.

At least 11 persons were killed early Friday when the 6½ tons of dynamite and other explosives detonated after fire spread to the parked truck from a nearby building blaze.

Coroner C. H. Babbitt said he was certain that there were other deaths. He said ashes, believed to be the remains of humans, were found in a charred rooming house near the blast scene. The ashes are being sent to a laboratory for testing.

Some 100 persons were injured by the blast, 52 of them requiring hospital treatment.

The explosion, which eyewitnesses said sent a column of flame

May Ease Man's Way to Space

Explorer VI Collecting Vital Scientific Data

By STANLEY MEISLER
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Paddle-wheeled Explorer VI, the most advanced American satellite, orbited in a wide sweep around the earth today and collected scientific data that may ease man's way into space.

The spheroid, sporting four paddle vanes trying to catch energy from the sun, was launched Friday at the missile test center here. A Thor-Able rocket, 90 feet long and in three stages, sent it aloft.

Has Longest Orbit

Soaring 25,950 miles from earth at its highest point and coming 152 miles above earth at its lowest, the satellite had the longest orbit of the six artificial moons now in space. It also takes six times as long as any other satellite to make a trip around the earth—12½ hours.

Packed in the 142-pound satellite was the most comprehensive scientific package ever orbited by the United States, enough instruments to perform 15 experiments.

The National Astronautics and Space Administration in Washington, getting reports on signals transmitted by the satellite on 108.06 and 108.09 megacycles and on an undisclosed high frequency, reported that every instrument tested was working perfectly.

Getting Vital Data

Most of the experiments are designed to provide vital information for sending a man into space. In summary, the instruments would:

1. Measure the intensity and length of the deadly radiation in the Van Allen belts that hover around the earth.
2. Demonstrate whether the four paddle vanes can convert enough of the sun's rays into electrical energy so that a future space ship could send radio messages from 20 to 30 million miles in space.
3. Scan the earth's cloud cover and transmit radio signals that might be converted into pictures that could help weather forecasting.
4. Measure the density of micrometeorites or cosmic dust to see how a space ship would hold up under their bombardment.
5. Chart the earth's magnetic field.
6. Study the behavior of radio waves to learn more about communications far out in space.

L. I. Police Probe 3rd Holdup Death Occuring in Week

WESTHAMPTON, N. Y. (AP) — Long Island police today were probing the third holdup-slaying in a week within a 30-mile area. The slayings all followed a single pattern.

Mrs. Irene Currier, 50, of West Yaphank, N. Y., was found shot to death early today in the diner she operated here.

Bound With Towels

Two men who came in for coffee found the diner apparently empty, and finally discovered her body on the floor of the ladies' room. She had been bound hand and foot with kitchen towels, another towel was tied around her neck, and a scarf was stuffed in her mouth. She had been shot once in the head. A .32-caliber shell lay on the floor near the body.

The cash register was empty, but indicated $132 had been taken in during the evening. Her handbag, containing $200, apparently had been overlooked on a shelf under the register.

Her husband, Edward, told police he and his wife retired as a bartender and waitress in Manhattan six weeks ago, and bought the diner.

Resembles Others

Police said the slaying bore a strong resemblance to the other two in Suffolk County during the past week. In all three cases the robbers had struck late at night, in a place where only one person was working, and each time a .32-caliber weapon was used.

Lawrence Kircher, 53, the counter-termer at a Smithtown, N. Y., diner, was found slain Wednesday, and Hans Hachmann, 54, was killed a week ago Friday in his Islip, N. Y., delicatessen.

After the second slaying Smithtown police Captain Cy Donnelly predicted the killer or killers would strike again.

Says Nixon Fails

BERLIN (AP) — The official newspaper of East Germany's ruling Communists said today Vice President Richard M. Nixon has abused his vocal cords.

"We fear," said Neues Deutschland, "that Herr Nixon exerted his vocal cords to no avail in the Soviet Union. The little wooden house in Sokolniki Park remains a propaganda dud."

It was the latest in a series of East German attacks on the American exhibition in Moscow, which features a modernistic American house.

Town Collectors Must Return Tax Rolls on Sept. 1

Fred H. Du Bois, county treasurer, today advised taxpayers in the various towns of Ulster County that town tax collectors will turn in the 1959 tax rolls to the Ulster County Treasurer's Office during the week of September 1. Their warrant for collection expires on that date.

Any unpaid taxes for the current year should be paid to the collector before that date, in order to avoid extra penalties.

The collection fee for taxes paid to the collector during August is 4 per cent. After the tax is returned to the County Treasurer's Office, a 5 per cent collection fee is charged, plus a penalty of interest at the rate of 10 per cent per annum figured from February 1, 1959 to date of payment.

K-R Bridge Nears 100,000 Vehicle Crossings Mark

Expected, on the basis of gains made after opening of the new approach road from Route 9W, to clock 100,000 vehicles or more in July, the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge fell short of that goal, but nearly made it, a report of the New York State Bridge Authority noted today.

A gain of 15.56 per cent over last year is shown in the 92,089 vehicles clocked last month, however, and that is the record since the span opened Feb. 2, 1957. It was the highest July gain also for the four spans under the authority's control.

The local span clocked 12,397 more vehicles than the 79,692 in July, 1958.

Travel over all spans showed a 2.36 gain, John S. Stillman, authority chairman, reported.

It was undetermined in the report whether the high increase in travel over the span had anything to do with the sharp drop of 9.02 per cent on the Rip Van Winkle span at Catskill. That bridge clocked 178,504 vehicles against 196,208 a year ago in July, a loss of 17,704 vehicles.

Most of the decline in travel on the Catskill bridge the authority feels, is attributed to the opening of the Thruway's Selkirk-Castleton span in May.

The four spans clocked 838,827 vehicles against 819,504 in July 1958.

The Bear Mountain Bridge, showing a 6.56 per cent gain clocked 203,291 against 190,769; the Mid-Hudson, gaining 3.43 per cent clocked 364,943 and 352,835.

The Newburgh-Beacon ferry, clocking 47,586 vehicles compared to 48,250 in July, 1958 showed a drop of 1.38 per cent.

Flotilla Is To Honor Discoverer Kingston to Get Salute August 15

A flotilla of nearly 1,000 river craft will re-enact Henry Hudson's historic voyage up the Hudson River from New York City to Albany on Saturday, Aug. 15. They will salute Kingston at approximately 3:55 p. m.

This was announced today by State Senator Ernest I. Hatfield, of Poughkeepsie, chairman of the New York State Commission on Historic Observances.

Plan Local Greeting

A fleet of cruisers and outboards of Kingston Power Boat Association Inc., led by Fleet Captain Donald W. Schryver on his cruiser, Flying-Hi II, and Capt. Charles J. Cole on his cruiser, Lelani will meet the New York flotilla and escort them to the Greene County line.

Capt. Cole is chairman of the Hudson Celebration. Ball to be held at Governor Clinton Hotel Saturday, Sept. 26.

The flotilla, traveling in commemoration of the 350th anniversary of Henry Hudson's voyage will rest overnight at Albany, and then continue westward through the Erie Canal to Buffalo.

The flotilla led by an 80-foot yacht piloted by Stanley J. Harte will begin the 12-hour trip to Albany at 8 a. m. from the 79th Street Marina in New York City. They will proceed up the river at a speed of about 10 knots per hour.

To Present Tray

On arrival at Albany they will present a pewter tray from The Netherlands, to Mayor Erastus Corning.

New York City fireboats will participate in a ceremony at the start of the procession. A Navy blimp will hover overhead, coming from Lakehurst, N. J. The Coast Guard will dispatch patrol boats.

Salutes to various cities on the river will be made. The flotilla will reach Ulster County waters at about 2:30 when it is expected to salute Poughkeepsie.

Invitations to participate and free waterways maps have been distributed at marinas from Albany to New York on both sides of the river.

State Air Salute

Stewart Air Force Base at Newburgh and Floyd Bennett Field in Brooklyn will send aircraft to salute the flotilla. A number of national, state and city dignitaries will participate and be aboard Harte's yacht, Princess II. Pleasure craft will join in two columns as the procession passes each marina and yacht club on the river. Army ducks will also participate and a Hudson River Day Line boat will be part of the procession.

Could Find Sneak Nuclear Tests Navy Developing Radar To Spy Across Oceans

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new radar device to spy across oceans and give a quick report on ballistic missile launchings is being developed, the U.S. Navy says.

The radar also could be used as one means of uncovering sneak tests of nuclear weapons in violation of any international agreement.

Dr. William J. Thaler of the Office of Naval Research and "father" of the new radar setup called Project Tepee, said Friday night:

"I would hope you could double the warning time."

Would Hasten Report

This would mean that the United States would have almost 30 minutes instead of 15 minutes — possible under the U.S. system now being built — in which to launch counter-weapons. Military men figure it would take about 30 minutes for a missile fired in the Soviet Union to reach the United States.

Thaler, 33, talked to newsmen about the project. Asked if the Navy had tested the device against Soviet ICBM testing launchings, he replied "no."

Trials with the device, which he said is still in the early "breadboard" developmental stage, have worked at what amount to intercontinental ranges—5,500 miles.

Picked Up Tests

Thaler said the device is located at an undisclosed place in continental United States and picked up the ballistic missile-nuclear exchange.

His Plea, Innocent, In Court

Counsel Has No Plan on Action

Morgan D. Ryan of Kingston was indicted on three counts of bribery in a special session of the Supreme Court this morning in a sudden dramatic twist in the long state probe of kick-back practices in Ulster County.

Ryan was arraigned and released in custody of his attorney, N. Le Van Haver, and given until Tuesday morning to post bail of $2,000.

Pleads Innocent

Asked by Justice William F. Deckelman how he pleaded to the indictment, Ryan said in a firm voice, "not guilty."

Judge Deckelman granted Ryan's counsel two weeks for any motions he may wish to make. Haver indicated that he had reached no decision yet on what action he would take in the matter.

The March Grand Jury, which has figured prominently in this week's swift and dramatic development, was dismissed by Judge Deckelman until October 5, "subject to being reconvened on proper application."

Jurors Instructed

Judge Deckelman told the 19 men and women of the grand jury panel that they would not be required to return on that date unless an application was filed and an order issued.

Special Prosecutor Bernard Tompkins expressed his appreciation to the grand jury for its civic-mindedness in its willingness to appear on a Saturday on such short notice. They were notified late Friday afternoon by telephone that a special session would be held this morning. Judge Deckelman also reiterated his appreciation for the jury's civic spirit.

Three Counts Listed

Ryan, a former official of the defunct Ulster Bituminous company, now a resource assistant with the Ulster County Department of Public Welfare, was indicted on three counts.

1. That in October 1954 he paid $34 to Grant Avery, superintendent of highways of the Town of Olive.
2. That in September and October of 1954 he paid $102 to Fred D. Shaver, superintendent of highways of the Town of Hardenburgh.
3. That in September 1954 he paid $120 to Peter Troncillo, superintendent of highways of the Town of Marlboro.

Tompkins told the Court that although the indictment listed only three counts there was evidence in his possession showing "many additional counts of bribery" outside the statute of limitations.

To Hold Court Tuesday

Tompkins announced that there will be a special session of Court at 10:30 a. m. Tuesday with Justice Henry Clay Greenberg presiding.

Appellate Division Justice Francis Bergan cleared the way late yesterday for the local grand jury to report this morning on its findings in the Ryan matter.

On Thursday Ryan's attorneys Haver and John Egan of Kingston won from Judge Bergan an

To Move Water Main For Arterial Route

The relocation of Kingston water mains north of the city prior to the construction of the Route 209 by-pass is being planned by Kingston Water Department officials and their consulting engineers, it was announced today.

A program was discussed at a meeting earlier this week for making studies on the forthcoming Report on Proposed Improvements, previously authorized by the department.

Howard S. Pangburn, president of the Board of Water Commissioners, and Superintendent Edmund T. Cloonan represented the Water Department at the meeting with their consultants, Clinton Borgert Engineers, in New York City.

Since the new Route 209 will cross directly over the 18-inch and 20-inch conduits feeding the city, Cloonan reports, it will be necessary for them to be re-routed some 500 feet to the east so as to pass under a bridge on Sawkill Road. Cloonan pointed out that the re-routing in itself will be a large undertaking involving the re-laying of about 1,200 feet of 18-inch and 20-inch water mains six to eight feet deep.

One of the most difficult parts of this project will be the tying-in of the new water mains above and below the highway construction where time is limited. Since the tying-in operation will necessitate the shutting down of about four miles of each conduit, the Water Department is requiring the contractor to perform the operation separately for each conduit, and to complete the connection in less than 24 hours.

With Pangburn and Cloonan both present, the consulting engineers were able to formulate final plans for the proposed state construction, including permits, sterilization of the new line, time schedules and other pertinent matters.

Discussed Report

The consultants also discussed with the representatives of the Kingston Water Department work done to date on the new "report" and the proposed methods of approach for the re-remaining work. Considerable time was spent in setting up the beginnings of a program of stream gauging which, with the help of Water Department personnel, will permit the engineers to include in their report data on the dependable supply from the present water sources used by the City of Kingston.

Paralytic Polio Cases Increasing, U. S. Total Is 183

WASHINGTON (AP)—The number of paralytic polio cases continued to increase last week, but the pace was slowed somewhat.

The total for the United States last week was 183, a record number for 1959, the Public Health Service reported Friday.

That was an increase of eight over the total for the week before. Early last month, the figure had jumped 50 per cent in one week.

For the first eight months of the year, there have been 1,314 paralytic cases. In the same period last year, there were 579 such cases. In 1955, before Salk polio vaccine was available, 2,325 paralytic cases were reported in the first eight months.

The Public Health Service said that 83 per cent of this year's polio victims — both paralytic and non-paralytic—have been Negroes and that more than 75 per cent of the paralytic victims had not taken any polio vaccine.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

Max Conrad made headlines recently when at the age of 56 he broke records by flying a light plane non-stop from Casablanca to Los Angeles. There was considerable stir about his remarkable feat but few knew of the greater obstacle Conrad had surmounted, through determination and faith.

I visited this grandfather, an old time stunt flier and the father of ten children, in his San Francisco home. His soft blue eyes and warm smile gave no indication that 30 years ago he lost his speech and memory as the result of a head injury.

That did not stop him. A gifted athlete, he drove himself to recovery with such firmness of purpose that he became an American entry in the 1932 Olympics high jumps. Conrad was a barnstormer who engaged in many spectacular flights and who has ferried planes across the Atlantic scores of times. Yet he did not recover completely until recent years from his injury.

In the lonely flights at night, over a period of two years, he composed the words and music for The Flyer's Rosary. It goes like this—

By night on swift enchanted wings I fly,
Bright stars above become my Rosary;
Each star a lonely prayer which bids me try
To live in Faith and Hope and Charity.

Flying Parsons Cover Big Areas To Preach Gospel

By TOM HENSHAW

They used to call the Rev. Gil Dodds the Flying Parson because he could run a mile in a track suit faster than most men of his time.

Now, with private air travel a commonplace thing, churches are developing a breed of real flying parsons, clergymen able to serve large, scattered parishes through the use of airplanes.

The United Church of Christ has at least two.

The Rev. John R. Kelly of Broadus, Mont., serves six congregations scattered over an area of 4,000 square miles, flying his own two-seater plane over the longer legs of his parish rounds.

The Rev. Alan O. Inglis of Flasher, N. D., travels about 4,000 miles a month by car and single-engine plane to perform ministerial duties in his sprawling parish.

Facilities Primitive

For both flying parsons, facilities are primitive. The Rev. Mr. Kelly has to shoo cows off his landing strip in Broadus before taking off. "The runway is in the middle of a cow pasture," he says, "and the cows haven't forgotten they were there first."

None of the fields in the Rev. Mr. Kelly's Powder River parish are lighted for night landings, but he has solved the problem in a novel way.

He buzzes the town, and parishioners get out their automobiles and hustle to the field to light the landing strip with their headlights. The Rev. Mr. Inglis recently outlined a typical Sunday of services for his five scattered congregations in Flasher Larger Parish. He's up before dawn and hurrying to the airport in Flasher with his Bible, church bulletins, a tape recorder and, during the winter, a can of heated oil to get the plane started.

By 7 a. m., he's in Solen, N. D., landing on a little-used road. Then worship services for some 40 persons and a church breakfast of coffee and homemade rolls.

Carson, N. D., is the next stop. There, the Rev. Mr. Inglis sets down on the high school football field. Services in Carson start at 9:15 a. m.

He's back in Flasher for 11 a. m.

services, occasionally experiencing a delay while automobiles are hauled off the landing field. Hot-rodgers use the strip for drag racing on warm days.

After a quick sandwich at the parsonage, he's off for Solifridge, 30 minutes away across rough terrain on the fringe of the Badland area. Services there are at 2 p. m.

The last service of the Rev. Mr. Inglis' busy Sunday is in Shields, which he refers to as a paradoxical town.

"The town is dying. Only the church and the bar remain open."

per, lead and zinc industries loomed for Aug. 20. The aluminum industry keeps going under temporary agreements which end Nov. 1 or 30 days after a steel strike settlement whichever comes first.

Settlement Likely

It is unlikely that the steel strike will be permitted to run until Sept. 15, scheduled start of Khrushchev's visit.

The effects of the strike still were limited mainly to the steel industry itself and directly related industries, such as railroads and mining companies.

An unofficial tally of layoffs in other industries put the number at 100,000. In addition, 500,000 steel workers were on strike.

There were some reports of declines in retail business in major steel centers, but department store sales throughout the country ran six per cent over last year in the week ended Aug. 1, latest for which figures are available.

Electricity Hits Record

Electricity output in the latest week set a record. Check transactions—a good measure of public buying—topped the same week last year by 7.5 per cent. However, freight car loadings fell 12.6 per cent under last year and 26.5 per cent under two years ago.

Corporate earnings reports continued to emphasize the boom. A First National City Bank of New York compilation disclosed 800 corporations earned 56 per cent more in the first half this year than last.

And the future looked bright to economists, as witness this prophecy by Dun's Review and Modern Industry: "Physical output in the last quarter will climb to new record levels. . . . More workers will be needed to accommodate this rise in production, and the number of unemployed will continue to drift downward."

A Brief Look

Briefly over the business scene: Americans bought more from foreign countries in June than they sold to them. . . . It was the first time in nine years that imports exceeded exports. . . . And another first: For the first time since the end of World War II, trading in stocks and bonds for the year ended June 30 was greater dollar-wise than in commodity futures. . . . And still another: For the first time since the New Orleans Cotton Exchange was founded in 1871, there were no trades in cotton futures Wednesday. . . . The Du Pont Co. has been quite successful in drying up some of its lushes. . . . In the last 15 years more than half of 1,254 employees who were once alcoholics have been cured. . . . But you haven't heard your wife say anything about it, but the Agriculture Department notes lower farm prices have given consumers their best grocery bargains in nearly a year-and-a-half. . . . Uncle Sam is a little slow in paying some debts: The United States turned over a $23,862,751 check to the Philippines ambassador for losses suffered by the Philippines when the United States devalued the dollar in 1934. . . . Good thing the money wasn't owed to a finance company.

order preventing the jury from reporting its findings to Judge Deekelman, Judge Bergan reversed himself yesterday.

Press Cautioned

During the hearing in the Albany County Court House yesterday, Tompkins announced that the grand jury had decided after study of information presented in the Ryan case. However, Judge Bergan struck Tompkins' remarks from the record and cautioned the press not to mention them in its report.

Judge Bergan's order of yesterday wipes out a special session of the Appellate Division which had been scheduled to convene in Albany August 13 to hear arguments in the case.

Jury Kept on Alert

Yesterday's decision climaxed a dramatic series of events which began at 7:30 a. m. when Special District Attorney General Leonard E. Reisman, Tompkins' assistant, called to Montgomery, Judge Deekelman's home town, to consult with the judge. The members of the regular grand jury in Ulster County were kept on telephone alert throughout Friday awaiting information as to whether there would be a session today.

Ryan's attorneys had argued that the special state prosecutor directing the kickback probe, Bernard Tompkins, had no right to go before a regular grand jury in the Ryan case. They contended that the panel had been dissolved because no date had been set for reconvening when the March grand jury was adjourned.

Friday, Tompkins produced in Albany a stenographic record that showed the session was adjourned to chambers, rather than sine die. Ryan was indicted last month by a special grand jury on a charge of offering bribes to public officials. The Court of Appeals dismissed the indictment, but said there was nothing to prevent another grand jury from considering the case.

The Ulster County grand jury was recalled this week and investigated the case. Ryan did not appear before the panel.

Watchman Is Held For Six Fires at Peekskill School

PEEKSKILL, N. Y. (AP)—A watchman at Peekskill Military Academy who is also a volunteer fireman is being held for grand jury action on police charges that he set six fires at the school during the past half year.

Sylvanus Conklin, 61, was arraigned Friday night before City Judge Seymour Levine and jailed in lieu of $2,000 bail after waiving examination.

Detective Sgt. James Nelson said Conklin admitted setting the fires after submitting to a lie detector test. The most recent blaze last Saturday caused an estimated $30,000 damage to the administration building. The others were minor.

Police said Conklin has been employed at the academy five years.

Ike Will Do Work In Gettysburg For About Week

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Gettysburg, long accustomed to taking President Eisenhower's comings and goings in stride, is a bit excited because it is going to be, for all practical purposes, the base of White House operations for a week or so.

The Gettysburg Times, which usually reports the President's weekend visits to his farm near here in a few paragraphs, gave top play to its story that the White House is going to set up shop here for an indefinite period. Eisenhower plans to play golf and relax until Monday, when he returns to the capital to keep appointments. He will meet with Republican congressional leaders there on Tuesday.

Then he returns here for what press secretary James C. Hagerty has described as the nearest thing to a vacation the President will get before beginning a series of international conferences later this month.

Fire caused 11,300 deaths in North America in 1957.

Cub Graduates To Boy Scouts At Pack 19 Meet

Carl Schleede, winner of the Cub-of-the-Year award in 1958 and holder of the Webelos Badge, the highest award in Cub Scouting, was graduated from Cub Pack 19, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1386, Wednesday evening at the monthly pack meeting held at Forsyth Park.

Michael Bonomo, member of the committee of Boy Scout Troop 19, and John Schleede, senior patrol leader of Troop 19, received the graduating Cub Scouts into the Boy Scouts. Den Mother Mrs. Betty Eighmey presented the graduate with his "doodle string," said to be the largest advancement record compiled in the history of Cub Pack 19.

The evening's program was opened with a flag ceremony presented by Den 4, and closed with refreshments served by Den 3.

Entertainment in the form of several quiz contests was presented by Den Mother Mrs. Beatrice Connelly.

Awards for the month were: Den 1, Betty Eighmey, den mother; silver arrows to Carl Schleede and Robert Wells; three-year service star and three-year perfect attendance pin to Carl Schleede.

Den 3, Barbara Tomczyk, den mother; silver arrow to William Buddenhagen; two year service star to John Barnes.

Den 4, Nancy Wells, den mother; two silver arrows each to Wayne Elliott and Paul Stauble.

Den 5, Juanita Showers, den mother; silver arrows to Peter Leiber and Richard VanKeuren; Adult award to Pack Chair, man Raymond Wells; three year service star and three year perfect attendance pin.

Buyer's Strike Is Threatened if Negroes Accepted

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—One of the top segregationist leaders today threatened a "buyer's strike" against downtown merchants here if high school integration comes as scheduled Wednesday.

"If one Negro even attempts to attend a white high school," said Amis Guthridge, "we are calling on the people of every school district in Arkansas to stage a buyers' strike against Little Rock Main Street merchants, and against every firm that employs even one Negro."

Guthridge, attorney for the Segregationist Citizens Council, also said his organization had planned other actions in connection with integration, but said he couldn't reveal it.

Grainger Williams, President of the Little Rock Chamber of Commerce, when asked to comment, said he felt "additional comment would be in poor taste."

The chamber last winter officially urged the re-opening of public high schools.

Guthridge said the merchants "claim they want peaceful public schools."

"All they need to do is tell Daisy Bates to tell the Negroes to go to Horace Mann and we will have permanent peace in Little Rock."

In this, Guthridge hit at the Committee for Peaceful Operation of Our Public Schools, a new group of civic and business leaders. Daisy Bates is Mrs. L. C. Bates, Arkansas head of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, and Horace Mann is a Negro high school.

Guthridge set a deadline of 9 a. m. Monday for the merchants "to assure us"—and declined to elaborate further.

Another segregationist charged that police plan to use tear gas against "peaceable assemblies" when integrated schools open here Wednesday.

Only four days remain before six Negroes are scheduled to begin classes in two once white schools.

Four days before school opening in 1957, segregationists were busy organizing resistance to integration.

Last year, school patrons waited for Gov. Orval E. Faubus to invoke a school closing law handed him by a special session of the Legislature.

Segregationist violence brought federal troops to enforce integration in 1957, and the schools are scheduled to open Wednesday for the first time since Faubus closed them in 1958.

Today there are no known scheduled segregationist meetings.

There are only nebulous rumors that Faubus plans a special legislative session to replace the school closing law thrown out by a federal court.

The tear gas charge by Dr. Malcolm G. Taylor, president of the Capital Citizens Council, was discounted by city officials.

7 Men Arrested By Del. Police In Blast Probe

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—Seven white men have been arrested in connection with the first of two explosions that ripped through a Negro home.

Delaware State Police Capt. John Herbert said after Friday's announcement of the arrests that officials expect more to follow.

Herbert did not explain whether they might be in connection with the first blast last April 7 that caused $3,500 damage or the latest explosion last Sunday that completely wrecked the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Rayfield. The Rayfields and their teen-age daughter were not at home at either time.

The Rayfields were the first and only Negro family to move into the previously all-white nearby community of Collins Park last January.

Acted on FBI Tip

The Rayfields are staying with relatives here. They plan to move soon into a rented house.

Delaware State Police, acting on FBI tips, arrested six of the men. The other man was arrested in Venice, Fla., where he was vacationing.

Those arrested in Wilmington were Gilbert Munnick, 49, Francis Conley, 32, Albert L. Reverdito, 32, David Emory, 28, and Ronald Therklind, 24, all of Collins Park, and Melvin Downing, 28, of Overview Gardens, a neighboring development.

All were released on bail ranging from $5,000 to $15,000 pending Delaware Superior Court action.

William V. Charlton, a filling station operator, was arrested in Venice, Fla., who also lived in Collins Park, said that he was 600 miles from Wilmington on April 7.

Officers said he will be arraigned on a charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. State Police had charged Charlton with a burglary that preceded the explosion.

Deadline Sept. 2 For Sick Pay Tax Refund Claim

Albany District taxpayers who qualify have only until September 2, to file and receive claims for refund of federal income tax on sick pay received under certain employer-financed plans.

James A. O'Hara, district director of Internal Revenue said the claims are those based on cases covered by the 1959 Supreme Court decision in the case of Gordon P. and Essie M. Haynes.

He said the Technical Amendments Act of 1958, (Public Law 85-866), provides a period of one year from September 2, 1958 for re-opening of refund claims previously disallowed by IRS on cases of the Haynes type.

The one year period expires September 2, and applies to those claims where the revenue service issued a registered notice of disallowance and the two-year period for filing suit expired prior to the Supreme Court decision in the Haynes case, O'Hara said.

He said any taxpayer who filed a timely claim for refund after December 31, 1951 and received a registered notice of disallowance should send a letter to him requesting reconsideration of the claims.

Since the law requires these refunds be made by September 2, O'Hara urged qualified taxpayers to write him as soon as possible.

Croton Man Dies In 6-Story Plunge

NEW YORK (AP)—A man attending a party at a Manhattan apartment Friday night suddenly stripped off his coat and leaped through a window, police reported. He landed on the pavement six floors below and died soon after.

He was tentatively identified as Elliott Gruskin, 30, of Croton, N. Y. Police quoted friends at the party as saying he was a writer for the American Cancer Society who had separated from his wife recently.

Ribbon Ceremonies Open Rt. 17 Bypass

MONTICELLO, N. Y. (AP)—The 5-mile Monticello bypass of Route 17 was opened today with ribbon cutting ceremonies although guard rails and other safety factors still remain to be erected.

Holiday traffic jams in this resort area forced the opening, twice postponed and then set for Sept. 4.

In the presence of Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson, seven-year-old Vicki Kaplan, daughter of Ben Kaplan, executive secretary of the Sullivan County Hotel Men's Assn., cut a ribbon which permitted traffic to flow around this village.

During a brief ceremony, cut short by rain, Wilson held out hope for millions of dollars worth of more highway construction, but he said the chief obstacle to rapid progress was due to the failure of Congress to furnish federal aid.

The bypass, with 11 miles of access roads, was constructed at a cost of 7 million dollars.

Bee Sting Is Fatal To Bronx Visitor

A 42-year-old Bronx man died Thursday afternoon less than an hour after he was bitten by a bee while on a picnic with his family in the New Paltz area.

Coroner Francis J. McCardle said that Anthony Vendeinello was bitten by a yellow jacket while on an outing at the Louis Frengo farm at Benton Corners.

He was rushed to the office of Dr. Virgil DeWitt where he failed to respond to treatment, living only 50 minutes.

The body was removed to the county morgue where an examination disclosed that death was due to what McCardle described as "anti-phallic shock."

Clumsy Burglar Captured After Actor Shot Him

NEW YORK (AP)—Altitude can play tricks with a man's normal reactions, as a would-be second-story man found out today when he tried to move up in the world.

He picked a fourth-floor apartment, police say, and this is what happened:

First, in entering the apartment in the pre-dawn darkness, any normal burglar would be very quiet. This man, perhaps because he had some trouble entering from the roof of an attached building, broke the glass in a window.

The apartment's occupant, 32-year-old Randi Lynn, an auburn-haired bookkeeper, was awakened and screamed.

Any normal burglar would have fled, but this one dashed out the front door of the apartment and into the hall.

Miss Lynn continued to scream, and in a panic the intruder dashed into the adjoining apartment. There he met more trouble.

The woman there, Miss Helen Joyce, was washing her two dogs, and when she saw him she began to scream. Miss Lynn was still screaming, and the two dogs began a frantic barking.

The intruder fled back into Miss Lynn's apartment, locked himself in the bathroom, and dropped from the window the short distance to the roof of the attached building.

But he had taken too long. Jay Scott, 28, an unemployed actor, had time to load his hunting rifle, and picked the man off with ease. The intruder dropped, a bullet in his leg, and listened to the barking and screaming he had set off until police arrived.

They identified him as Hyman Prenschoff Jr., 35, of New Rochelle, N. Y. He was arrested on a charge of burglary and confined to the Bellevue Hospital prison ward, where his condition was reported to be not serious.

Nixon Favored For President By Legislators

MANCHESTER, N. H. (AP)—The Manchester Union Leader asked 102 of the 262 Republican members of the New Hampshire Legislature which they preferred for the GOP presidential nomination—Nixon or Rockefeller.

The newspaper reported today that 80 voted for Vice President Richard M. Nixon, 15 for New York Gov. Rockefeller, and 7 had no choice. The Union Leader said it polled lawmakers from all 10 counties of the state.

Nixon received almost 23,000 write-in votes for vice president in New Hampshire's 1956 presidential primary. This was held at a time when there was talk of dumping him from the ticket.

Union Leader political Editor D. Frank O'Neil said "The overwhelming Nixon support apparently confirms the 1956 write-in vote for the vice president which had been questioned by many political observers who couldn't believe that anyone could win such backing without an organized campaign."

In Carroll County, home of Rep. Chester E. Morrow of Ossipee, Rockefeller's leading New Hampshire supporter, the poll gave Nixon 7, Rockefeller 1.

Rockefeller's strongest support in New Hampshire came from Grafton County, home of Dartmouth College at Hanover. Rockefeller is a Dartmouth alumnus.

The newspaper said most Republican legislators had "no hard and fast objections" to Rockefeller, although a few had doubts about nominating "a man of wealth" for the presidency.

4 Puerto Ricans Invade Wurtsboro Camp, Take Money

WURTSBORO, N. Y. (AP)—Four young Puerto Ricans carrying guns and knives invaded a summer camp near here just before dawn today and took several hundred dollars in cash and clothing from 18 persons in a waiters' dormitory.

The robbers made a getaway in a car belonging to one of the waiters. State Police were notified and quickly set up roadblocks in the area but no trace of the culprits was found immediately.

The robbery took place around 5 a. m. at Camp Lakota, situated at Masten's Lake, on Route 17 five miles west of Wurtsboro.

Camp personnel said one of the invaders was an 18-year-old New York City resident who recently had worked at the camp a few days. The victims said he and his companions all were Puerto Ricans.

The robbers spent about half an hour ransacking the waiters from their bunks and collecting money and clothing from them. No one was harmed.

Japan Is Looking To GIs for Old Sword Treasures
NEW YORK (AP)—Some GIs are in for a good "cut" if they own certain ancient Samurai swords, considered by Japan to be national treasures.

The Japanese Artistic Sword Preservation Assn. has launched a treasure hunt for 42 of the fierce-looking, two-handed blades believed brought home by American servicemen after World War II. The 42 are among an estimated 350,000 carted home by the men.

Junzo Sato, representative of the association, said Friday he was prepared to present "suitable gifts" to any one owning a valuable Samurai sword, the ones being sought, date back to the 11th and 12th centuries.

The value of the swords depends on the name of the sword maker, which is inscribed on the 30-inch blade, or the name of the family to which it belongs, Sato said.

HAWAII ELECTS

Two things stand out in the results of Hawaii's first election as the 50th state in the Union. One is the surprising strength shown by the Republicans. The other is the extent to which Americans of oriental background won voter approval.

When Hawaiians approved statehood by an overwhelming majority in June, it was widely supposed that the Republican party would be badly defeated in the first state elections. The Democrats were joyously predicting victory across the board. Even when party enthusiasm was discounted, Democratic optimism seemed justified.

Now the people of Hawaii have spoken, and what they said is generally disquieting to the Democrats. Hawaii elected a Republican governor and lieutenant governor, and one of the two Senate seats went to a Republican. The Republicans also won control of the state senate. Control of the state House of Representatives was retained by the Democrats, who also named a senator and the island's lone congressman.

The gubernatorial victory is of special importance to the GOP because of the great patronage power involved. The chief executive will appoint hundreds of officials, including department heads, judges and members of boards and commissions. This will naturally give the Republican organization a vigorous lift toward success in 1960.

Opinions as to the good or bad of that depend mainly on party affiliation. Most Americans of whatever political party will be pleased, however, that men of Japanese and Chinese ancestry are being sent to Congress for the first time. The meeting pot, which makes Americans of us all without regard to race or creed, still functions. The good qualities identified with the Orient will be a welcome addition to the varied abilities which contribute to the nation's legislative machinery.

MEN FROM MICHIGAN

Only seven other residents of Michigan have preceded Frederick H. Mueller, the newly appointed secretary of commerce, to the cabinet. Yet Michigan has been a state for 122 years.

The most distinguished Michigander in the cabinet was Lewis Cass, territorial governor of Michigan for 18 years, secretary of war and secretary of state, senator, and Democratic candidate in 1848. He remains the only cabinet officer appointed before his state entered the Union. Jackson named him to the War Department in 1831, and Michigan did not become a state until 1837.

The other Michigan cabinet officers are mostly unremembered now. There is one exception, the present postmaster general, Arthur E. Summerfield. Except for New York, few states have had two cabinet heads at the same time.

One reason why the state was so long overlooked when the president's chief advisers were named may have been its former unyielding Republicanism. Such posts have generally gone to doubtful states which might be won over. As Michigan is now in this category, its cabinet officers may be more numerous in the future.

Married couples in a New Jersey community have formed a dinner "giggle club." Well, isn't that just too cute for words!

HIP POCKET BANK

Well, it's happened again: someone using his wallet as a repository for life savings loses both wallet and savings. An elderly Chicago man reported to police that he was bereft of $35,000 in this manner. Aside from the mystery of how anyone could cram that much cash into a mere purse, the man's reason for carrying it there sounds plaintive but a little dubious.

Apparently this unfortunate soul hadn't trusted banks since 1932. But no bank ever closed its door more effectively than the day this wallet disappeared! Nor does money carried in the hip pocket bear much interest. To the $35,000 lost should be added a fat sum in interest foregone.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
OUR CONTINENTAL PARTNER

When we get away from the impact of the Nixon trip to Russia, which cannot be underestimated, we turn again to the numerous and complicated problems which the United States faces. And not the least important of these is Canada. This country is not only our closest neighbor, but the two countries are now so entwined economically that it is impossible to ignore the differences that arise between them—all of which are economic.

Only one nation in all the world is larger than Canada and that is the Soviet Union. But Canada's population is small, in fact, as world states are measured today, Canada's population is very small, only about 18,000,000.

The natural resources of Canada are enormous and most of them are untapped. Geographically, Canada faces the Atlantic, the Pacific and the Arctic Oceans and the St. Lawrence Seaway cuts the distance to Europe. Ultimately, Canada must become economically a tremendous force in the world because of its size, its resources and its population potential.

To the United States, Canada is important not only economically but militarily. Should the United States ever be forced to depend upon the Western Hemisphere for its minerals, Canada will become the center of American economic activity. From a military standpoint, Canada is our first line of defense which explains why we have put so much effort into the Dew Line and the Mid-Canada Line—radar signal posts running from the Atlantic to the Pacific Oceans. In any future war, it will be impossible for these countries to be independent of each other. They will have to join forces against a common enemy, even more solidly than in World War II.

It is not a matter of population but of geography that makes Canada and the United States one. The population of Canada is not unlike that of the United States, except for the large numbers of a distinct ethnic type, the French Canadian. However, in the case of these two nations, it is not race or religion that matters as much as geography—no natural boundary separates these countries and but for the accidents of history, they might have been one nation.

In recent years a number of controversies have arisen between Canada and the United States which develop from the fact that the United States buys from Canada 60 per cent of its exports and sells to Canada 75 per cent of its imports. In addition, the United States has developed and controls about 50 per cent of Canada's productive capacity. These figures do not include the investment of Canadian money in the United States which is increasing. The Canadian fear that American investments in Canada will become so large that that country will become a mere appendage to the United States. On the other hand, the American government does not want Canada to become a tax haven, a run-away hide-out for American capital that is frightened by American taxes which are not only high but are collected by brutal means, leaving the taxpayer with decreased incentives.

This is undoubtedly the principal issue between the two countries. For instance, the Canadians prefer to have American capital invested in Canada but insist that that money follow Canadian rather than American policy. This is an impossible condition because the American company must be held accountable in the United States for the conduct of all its subsidiaries, particularly when there is suspicion that one reason for exporting capital is to become free of restrictions.

This could involve such a major subject as trade with Soviet Russia or with Red China. An American company could escape the rigidities of American policy by acting through a Canadian subsidiary. The Canadian government would not mind that; Washington does.

To most Americans, Canada is a vast, mostly barren hinterland. It is difficult for them to realize that Canada is one of the world's leading manufacturing nations today. About 30 per cent of the national income is derived from manufactures. If Canada is to increase its manufactures, it will undoubtedly require more capital and more people. The capital can only come from the United States; the population most likely would come from Eastern and Southern Europe. Increased American capital must mean increased control by Americans; increased population will ultimately change the Anglo-Saxon-French balance which has been so important in Canadian history.

The Mature Parent
Feelings Are Last Refuge
For the Freedom of Choice

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

A young advertising man under psychoanalytic treatment was told to entertain an out-of-town client. He was furious. Pacing his doctor's office, he muttered:

"My friendliness is my own to give! Why do I have to show the town to this fool when I've just bought a house in the country to get away from it? I've got better things to do with my evenings than pub-crawling with some guy who can't hold his liquor! I . . ."

Said his doctor mildly, "Why don't you tell your boss that you have to refuse this engagement?"

That evening his patient found himself thinking much less beligerently of the out-of-town client. So when he met him, he was able to propose a tour of theaters instead of night spots—a program which ended in their becoming friends.

By supporting his right to withhold friendliness from the client, his doctor had made it possible for him to give it. He had made giving it his patient's own choice instead of a compulsion by somebody else.

When we "tell" a child to be kind and unselfish to his brother or sister, we create the same resistance that the young advertising man's boss created in him. The resistance only looks like hate of the brother or sister. Actually, it's hate of having his feelings ordered for him.

Today, we have very little control of external circumstances. We can't make the Russians behave. We can't change the government's need of big income taxes. We can't reduce the danger of radioactive fallout. We can't park our cars where we want to.

Our actions are continually restricted by everything from "Don't Walk" signs on street corners to the TV repair man's time schedule. So we are becoming very jealous indeed of our right to freedom of feeling.

So are children. In a world where they can't run across roads lest they be killed or shout in apartment halls lest they upset the neighbors, they can't stand being told what to feel, too. Our grandparents could order the "kindness" from their children because the child's external world still offered them freedom of action. They could stand being told what to feel because so much of their action was unrestricted.

Unlike our youngsters, they could run across roads, jump on ice wagons and shout their heads off without upsetting the neighbors.

are subject to the vagaries of economic time and tide, but the record for stability, while not perfect, has been a noteworthy achievement. Nor could our system of free enterprise function without the supplies of capital made available by the nation's banks.

Tossed Salad

Washington News

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Charges of bad planning, bad management, personnel incompetence, extravagance, waste and corruption have been leveled against foreign aid operations ever since the Marshall Plan was launched in 1948.

Currently the Viet Nam program is in the spotlight. A few weeks ago it was Laos. Before those were reported scandals in Korea, the Philippines, Iran, Europe, Latin America—everywhere that an American aid dollar has gone.

These charges have been made by congressional investigating committees and by the General Accounting Office of government auditors. They have been made by private citizens shocked by conditions reported to them on travels abroad and by people at home who are just naturally opposed to the whole foreign aid idea. They have been exposed by newspapers and magazine writers digging up dirt as part of their job of reporting what goes on.

Most of the 138 foreign aid personnel irregularity cases turned over to Department of Justice have been for minor offenses like falsifying accounts, expense or rental vouchers or other government allowances. In the 19 cases closed, fines have totaled only $7,500, restitutions $5,176.

THERE HAS BEEN one major conviction, in the case of Thomas A. Bertone. He was the Department of State officer handling procurement for ICA in Iran. He worked out a slick get-rich scheme. He bought $70,000 worth of property, registering it in the names of native conspirators. He then rented his properties to U. S. government personnel through his conspirators, from whom he collected kickbacks.

Witnesses were brought back from Iran for Bertone's trial last spring. He was fined $5,000 and sentenced to five years' imprisonment. The irony of this Iranian kickback system is that Bertone's properties are now worth $150,000 and the natives in whose names they were registered are claiming them as theirs.

There has been only one case in which charges of bribery have been made. It involves Edward McNamara, a former ICA employee in Laos. No indictment has been filed, pending a final audit of books in Bangkok.

The Biggest Source of corruption in foreign aid operations has come from contract suppliers. Cases still under investigation are not disclosed, but completed cases give an insight into what has been going on.

World Over Trading Co. of New York was caught falsifying invoices and shipping less goods than represented on contracts to supply textiles to Iraq, Lebanon, Viet Nam, Thailand and the Philippines. The company was fined $30,000 and its head, Stanley Hecht, a Czech-born naturalized American, was fined $5,000 and sentenced to four years in prison. Hecht later skipped $20,000 bail and is now being sought by the FBI.

The Meldon Paper Corp. of New York, Arthur Donigerm, president, was fined $78,000 for short weight on 17 shipments of newsprint to Korea and Viet Nam.

An exporter named Shigemitsu Matsubara got a $339,000 contract from Korea for yarn made in U. S. He bought yarn in Japan at half the U. S. price, shipped it to the San Francisco free trade area, then reshipped to Korea, charging the U. S. price. Matsubara was fined a total of $5,000 on 15 counts. His company was fined $80,000. Two other members of the firm are fugitives.

ONE DIFFICULTY that the U. S. has in running down this kind of monkey business is that purchases are made by government to whom the aid is given. They frequently make contracts with lowest bidders, without establishing reliability. Often they get caught in costly foreign exchange deals which yield fantastic profits.

The U. S. can bring suit against only U. S. firms and citizens. When foreign nationals are caught in fraud cases, the evidence has to be turned over to their governments for prosecution. German and Japanese governments are pretty good about criminals are pretty good about operative.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON PARK, Mass., Aug. 7—I am a great believer in public libraries; I believe every citizen should support a good one. I am especially interested in the work my friend Thomas Drier is doing to encourage such libraries. Andrew Carnegie showed wisdom in selecting public libraries for his gifts. Whether, however, he would make the same choice today, we do not know. Certainly, public libraries now have great competition from radio, television, and "paper back" books.

Radio and Television
I would not object to these new developments if they were putting out better material. The librarian can urge readers to take out good books; but listeners to radio and television get too much of the stuff which is thrown out on the air whether good or bad. Is much material making our people softer, or harder?

I wish that cities would support their public libraries through paid advertisements in local papers. Working with the librarian, they could do much to improve their citizenry. Just think, one can get absolutely free the novels, histories, and life observations of the most prominent writers of the world; the life thoughts and life works of great teachers, preachers, scientists, bankers, merchants, manufacturers, and shopkeepers. The opportunity truly is terrific. For free material thereon, write Mr. Thomas Drier, St. Petersburg, Florida.

What Are People Reading?

We must encourage people not only to use their public libraries but to get the best reading material. In a recent trip to the Boston Public Library's periodical reading room, I found 35% of the people there reading the sports, 25% reading about murders and other crimes, 15% reading to be reading editorials or other worthwhile material. According to ex-Governor Harriman who recently returned from Russia, a situation like this makes Mr. Khrushchev very happy.

What Makes Character

Psychologists tell us that most of what we hear and read "goes in one ear and out the other." This may be good news to educators and parents, but not to those who sponsor radio and TV programs. It is said that less than 20 per cent of the possible television viewers see any given program, while less than 1 per cent remember it or the name of the sponsor.

Although I am a great believer in intelligent advertising of all kinds (except billboards), I feel that there is a tremendous waste of money in much of the radio and television advertising. Unsound material sent out over the air undermines American character, which is the real defense of the United States.

Need Libraries, Churches

When I was at Cape Canaveral in Florida a short time ago, I was astounded at the many billions we are spending on missiles compared with the three billion we are spending annually on Christian education. Furthermore, while these experimental missiles and anti-missiles are being sent up every hour of the day, comparatively few churches are open each day. The Roman Catholics set a good example in keeping their churches open; but of the 275,000 Protestant churches, only about 15,500 are registered as open every day. Those desiring detailed free information on keeping churches open should write the Open Church Foundation at its National Headquarters in Gloucester, Mass.

America was built by church people. New England was settled by the Pilgrims and Puritans; Pennsylvania by the Quakers; Virginia by people from the Church of England. The first thing built in each new community was a church, and the next a schoolhouse. Academies and small colleges followed. Khrushchev hopes that we will kick down this ladder by which we climbed; but let us be careful not to do this.

Conclusion

Churches, schools, and governments must realize that we are living in a critical period. We must not let these organizations become social clubs. We must all work to make harder citizens, anxious to render service rather than to get profits or security. We must not let our children become "softies." If they can no longer work in the cornfield or at the woodpile or kneel at the church altar, we must give them something to take the place of these great fundamental educators.

Final Performance Of Mormon Pageant Scheduled Tonight

PALMYRA, N. Y. (AP) — The Mormons present the final performance this year of their pageant, "America's Witness for Christ," tonight and the weatherman forecast a clear, cool evening.

An estimated 40,000 to 50,000 spectators watched the second of the three performances Friday night under overcast skies. On Thursday, an estimated 25,000 saw it.

The pageant on Hill Cumorah, 20 miles from Rochester, depicts scenes from The Bible and The Book of Mormon on five principal and 20 smaller stages.

The cast numbers 300 and an elaborate electrical system provides the sound and lighting. Mormons, members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, are concentrated mainly in Salt Lake City, Utah. They believe that The Book of Mormon was given to Joseph Smith 136 years ago on Hill Cumorah.

The book tells of a tribe that traveled from Jerusalem about 600 B. C. was visited by Christ after His resurrection and then was annihilated in battle about 1,300 years ago.

Two Marriage Ceremonies

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a Protestant and am marrying a man who is of the Jewish faith. In order to satisfy both families, we will have two services, one in my church for my family and friends and one in his church for his family and friends. Both services will take place on the same day and a large reception will be given later for everyone. This being a rather unusual situation, I am completely at a loss as to how to word my invitations. Would two separate church invitations be sent out, or would one invitation do, and if so, how should it be worded?

Answer: I have never heard of two ceremonies, but if you have the permission of both churches, I think the one invitation to both services would be best and guests could take their choice as to which service they would like to go, and some may even like to go to both. The wording would be:

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Green request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter Mary Elizabeth to Mr. John Sterling on ..... at ten o'clock Trinity Church and a second service at eleven o'clock Temple Emanuel

Women Wearing Shorts in Town

Dear Mrs. Post: Last weekend I went to visit some friends who live in the suburbs. On Saturday afternoon I drove to town with my friend who had to pick up a few things. I noticed a great many of the women walking through the stores wearing shorts. I thought this in shockingly bad taste. I have no objection to shorts, but certainly do not think them proper when shopping. Do you agree, or am I just plain old fashioned?

Answer: Maybe I too am old fashioned because I most certainly agree with you.

Return for Unaccepted Invitation

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it required that every invitation to a social function be returned even though it is impossible or impractical to accept all invitations?

Answer: According to etiquette, an invitation even though not accepted incurs an obligation which ought to be returned if you can.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflets E-5, entitled, "The Bride's Trouseau," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. E, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York, 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

This junior program carried on by the Cooperstown Association has about 8,000 members scattered throughout the state who carry on programs through their school clubs. In this way an historically educated group, appreciating the past and feeling relationship with it is being developed.

The Society extends a cordial invitation to educators and leaders of youth groups interested in this field to attend the meeting.

Rules When Buying Wood

Basic do's and don'ts for purchasers of lumber are listed.

DO . . . know that all lumber is graded as to quality, a grading based upon the wood's freedom from imperfections.

DO . . . remember that every grade has its uses—and you should buy the lowest grade of lumber for the purpose at hand.

DO . . . avoid waste and extra work by making slight changes in the measurements of your project to fit in with certain standard lumber sizes.

DO . . . bear in mind that the quoted dimensions of the wood refer to the stock in its rough state before it is surfaced and made ready for the market.

DON'T . . . forget that, while certain woods (such as redwood, cypress and cedar) have excellent resistance to the weather, preservatives are still advisable when the wood is in contact with the ground.

DON'T be afraid to ask your lumber dealer for advice as to the specific kind of wood to use for a particular job.

DON'T . . . be confused by the designations "hardwood" and "softwood." In nearly all cases, woods obtained from trees that shed their leaves every year are hardwoods, while woods from trees which have all-year-round needles are softwoods.

DON'T . . . overlook the possibility of getting bargains by buying odd pieces of lumber left over from lumber-yard cutting jobs.

Pennsylvania's greatest income is from coal and steel industries, but more than half the land area of the state is in farms.

House . . . . . 43' x 25'
Overall . . . . . 65'

A good-sized, comfortable one-story house "The Honey," presented today by the Home of the Week Plan Service, owes much of its interesting exterior appearance to the balanced effect created by the attached garage and the protruding bedroom wing.

This style of home can be built in any type of setting—and any exterior finish can be used with equally attractive results. Trim colors can be employed to good advantage on this house as can such extra decorative touches as outside lanterns, window boxes and perhaps a small iron rail as used on the front step of the illustrated house.

While the house proper measures 25 by 43 feet overall measurements are 65 feet. Cubage of the house is 23,200 feet; garage cubage is 9,300 feet. You'll need at least an 85-foot lot to build this house complete with attached garage. And, since the garage is such an integral part of the architecture of this house it would rob it of much of its individuality to omit the garage.

Well-Planned Layout

Inside, this house features a well-planned modern room layout. The entry hall leads to both the den and the living room. Thus, when a member of the family is entertaining friends in the living room it is not necessary to pass through that room to get to the rooms at the right of the house.

In the spacious living room the rear section is set apart to be used as a dining area. Large picture windows add to the pleasant appeal of the dining section. And the lady of the house will appreciate its proximity to the kitchen.

The kitchen, itself, contains all the equipment you would expect to find in a thoroughly modern kitchen. A cozy breakfast nook is provided for, too.

Two regular bedrooms are provided for. But, should you need extra bedroom space—or if you want a guest room—you can use the den.

In both bedrooms—and in the den, too—there is good closet space. These rooms also have good ventilation.

Laundry Utility Room

In back of the attached garage, space is provided for a laundry utility room and also for a workshop that will delight the heart of the home handyman. Ready access is provided to the yard from both these rooms. And—the garage can be reached directly from the workshop.

Only the heating plant must be installed in the basement of this house leaving you with lots of basement space to do with as you will.

Blueprints Available

Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost! Address requests to Home of the Week, Inc., Dept. KF, 87 Weybosset Street, Providence, R. I.

When Using Saw

When using a saw, be sure to cut at the correct angle. With a regular wood saw, about 45 degrees to face of work when crosscutting is best and about 60 degrees when ripping.

Clean Garage Floors

Concrete garage floors that are unsightly with deposits of grease and road tars can be cleaned up with washing or soda. Scrub with a solution of one-half cupful of the soda for every two gallons of hot water.

Calls Court Action To Close Bridge Purely Political

CORNWALL, Ont. (AP)—A spokesman for the United States Canadian Bridge Corp. describes as "purely political" a court action aimed at closing a six-million-dollar bridge over the St. Lawrence River.

The new bridge, linking Cornwall with the Massena, N. Y., area, was built jointly by the United States and Canada. It remained open to traffic.

The spokesman said the bridge corporation would take no action unless ordered to do so by the Ontario Supreme Court, which is in summer recess.

Friday, it was disclosed that Rothwell Grant of Montreal had filed a writ of injunction to close the bridge. He contended that the bridge constitutes a public nuisance and that its design and construction are faulty.

The bridge agency spokesman said Grant, a former St. Lawrence Seaway inspector, had sought a bridge job but had not been hired.

Grant served the writ on Canada's St. Lawrence Seaway Authority. The agency turned over the writ to the bridge corporation.

The spokesman said Grant was making "purely political moves in order to embarrass" the agency. Reese Harrill, a U. S. vice president of the bridge corporation, said weaknesses found in the bridge structure during construction had been corrected soon after they were discovered.

Removing Ink

Ink spots on an oak floor often can be removed simply by washing with soap and water. If the ink does not respond to such treatment, it generally can be taken out by sanding. The spot should then be touched up with finish.

In Colonial Styles

Panel doors in authentic Colonial and Early American styles are carried in stock by building material dealers. The doors, made of ponderosa pine, are copies of original masterpieces that were handmade by New England craftsmen.

Moisture Trouble

A large percentage of paint blistering and wood-rotting is caused by moisture seeping in from outside. Faulty construction and downright neglect are the most common causes. So check up and fix up before it is too late.

Early English Again Appears In Furniture

Furniture bridging three centuries and two continents appears in several new groups. Early English, in inspiration, it's a bit heavier than Early American and you'll probably like it best in larger rooms. The finish is warm dark brown.

Taking their cue from the generous proportions of chests and cabinets, designers have increased the size of seating pieces proportionately so that you may choose several types of chairs, some with wings or modified wings, lounge chairs with shaped wood arms and curved legs and bases, all in sizes that will really accommodate a large man in great comfort. Of course there also are accompanying smaller chairs, so you can balance one of the larger ones with a couple of smaller ones.

The general feeling of these new Early English groups is of pleasant informality and they look their best with gay colors and patterns, in the living room for real family living.

Old Panel Door May Be Turned Into Flush Door

A home handyman can convert an old-fashioned panel door into a modern flush-type door in a few hours. A flush door, with its flat surface, presents a modern appearance and makes cleaning an easy task.

Just apply plastic-surfaced paneling over the entire old door surface. First, to complete a solid base, build up the door panel depressions with pieces of insulating board to a level even with the rest of the door. These pieces and the new paneling may be secured with adhesive and should be weighted, braced or clamped until firmly set.

Matching molding may be used around the edges of the door. The new plastic-surfaced door panel may be chosen in a plain color, woodgrain or marble pattern to blend with a wall installation of the same kind of paneling. Or it may serve as a decorative accent.

The baked plastic surface of the refreshed door will resist finger marks, dirt and wear. If the paneling is to be applied to the side where the door will close on it, the door stop or hinges will have to be reset.

Choice of Woods

If you want to know what kind of wood to use for certain interior decorating effects, here's how the National Lumber Manufacturers' Assn. classifies natural color tones: Light to medium colors include ponderosa pine, sugar pine, Englemann spruce, west coast hemlock, Sitka spruce, white ash, birch, black gum, hickory, pecan, magnolia, soft maple, hard maple, red oak, white oak and yellow poplar. For woods running medium to dark in color, use western red cedar, southern cypress, California redwood, larch, brown ash, butternut, cherry, chestnut, red gum, American walnut and mahogany.

Boy, 14, Takes Note To Bank for Man In Holdup Threat

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—A young boy who delivered a note to a bank for a stranger found himself involved unwittingly in an attempted holdup Friday.

The note threatened that a bomb would explode in the bank unless $5,000 were left on a street corner. The boy, Kendall Walker, 14, delivered it to Lawrence Hailey, assistant treasurer of the Niagara County Savings Bank. The note began:

"You are being watched as you read this. Make no attempt to attract attention or sound an alarm. Speak to no one or use the telephone."

"A small but powerful bomb controlled by radio waves has been placed in the bank," Hailey told the boy to wait and he called police. No bomb was found. Business in the bank went on as usual.

Kendall told the FBI that a stranger had given him a dollar to deliver the note, which the FBI said was long, rambling and type-written.

He described the man as about 25 or 30 and of medium build. The FBI said they had no immediate clues to his identity. Kendall was taken home after he was questioned.

Makes Jobs Easier

Sawing and driving screws in hardwood can be made easier with ordinary soap, says Popular Science Monthly. If you coat both sides of a saw with soap, it will go through the wood faster. Similarly, lubricating screws and nails with soap will prevent the wood from gripping them, and they'll go in with less effort.

Watch Roof Deck

Just to make sure ice and snow have caused no damage, the roof should be a starting point for an annual house check-up. A good time to check is after a heavy rain when wet spots are likely to show. Pay special attention to areas around the chimney.

For Wainscoting

Interesting wainscoting can be created by using laminated plastic planks and squares. Because of the smaller sizes, in relation to large 4 by 8-foot sheets, the material is easily handled by one person. The choice of colors and patterns is almost unlimited.

Hints for Trimming Your Door Frames

Trimming door frames so that they look finished, and at the same time without taking too much pains with the task, requires that you do but two simple things. One is to make the casings fit neatly at the joints; and the other is to make use of a back band type of molding.

The sides and head casings can be butted square, or mitered, whichever way seems easier. The back band molding is so shaped that it makes a neat joint between the wall and the edges of the casings. This back band molding goes on last, and overlaps the edges of the casings. This type of finishing applies to both sides of any interior door frame.

Light Colored Roofs

A growing trend to snow-white and light-colored pastel shades in roof shingles is reported. Besides their decorative attractions, these asphalt shingles also turn back the sun's rays, making the home much cooler in summer.

Mills and Little Win Tennis Matches

Hudson Valley Tourney Starts At NP Courts

Ed Mills and Dick Little, two of the Kingston entries in the Hudson River Valley tennis championships, advanced to the second round after matches yesterday at the New Palitz State Teachers College courts. However, Chet Fox, another Kingston entrant, was eliminated.

Action in the first round will continue today and tomorrow. Marty Kaye, the newly crowned city champion, will play tomorrow. He is favored to advance.

The only upset in the first round came when sixth seeded Bill Alexander of Poughkeepsie was beaten by another Bridge City star, Art Jones, 6-0, 6-1. Mills, runner-up to Kaye in the recent city net tourney, was extended by Nick Lawrence of New Palitz before finally winning, 6-3, 9-7. Little had little trouble in downing Jerry Friedeloutz of Newburgh, 6-3, 6-4. Fox lost to John Daniels Sr. of Poughkeepsie, 6-4, 6-2.

Other first round results: Dave Johnson won over James Haggerty, 6-1, 6-3; Peter Purdy ousted John Daniels Jr., 1-6, 10-8, 6-2; Mal Nelson beat Herman Folherts, 6-2, 6-2; Dick Bird beat Rex Cunningham, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3; Willis Twyman beat Peter Caspar, 6-1, 6-0, and Craig McKinney defeated John Consiglio, 6-3, 6-1.

In addition to Kaye, many other topnotchers will be seen in action today and tomorrow. Among them will be Steve Banks of Suffern and Bill Simpson of Poughkeepsie, co-favorites for the title.

The women's tournament is scheduled to start today with 13 contestants set for action. Dr. Charles Wolbers, coordinator of health and physical education at the college, and the tournament director, said indications point to one of the best tournaments in the four year history of the event.

The second round is scheduled to get underway next week.

Knights Defeat Elks Nine, 7-0

Mike Ferraro hurled a nifty four-hitter as the Knights of Columbus won a 7-0 Babe Ruth League tilt yesterday. Ferraro walked four and struck out nine.

The winners scored a run in the third and then clinched the decision with a four run fifth inning. Vince Smedes smacked a triple and Sarge and Bob Lane doubled.

Tonight, the National League All-Stars, who went to the finals of the state tournament before losing, will be honored by Fred Davi before the Kingston Braves-Saugerties Dutchmen contest.

Billy Short Winner Again For Richmond VEES, 10-1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Apparently Gerry Thomas had turned in his cap pistol for a cannon.

Battling in the 280's for Richmond of the International League, Thomas is not primarily known for his home run and RBI marks.

Before Friday night's game, he had hit only five homers and driven in 32 runs in 70 games, an average of less than one every two games.

But, in the Vees' 10-1 clobbering of Montreal Friday, Thomas was the big gun, driving in seven runs—a team record—with a pair of homers.

Meanwhile, league-leading Buffalo maintained its nine-game spread by splitting a doubleheader with Havana. The Bisons won the opener 2-1 and the Sugar Kings took the nightcap 9-6.

In other games, Toronto swept a twinbill from Columbus 3-2 and 10-3 and Miami edged Rochester 3-2.

Thomas, who had a 4-for-5 night in support of Bill Short's seven-hit pitching, hit a grand slammer in the fourth inning and a three-run

Braves to Play Dutchmen Here In NY-NJ Contest

Community Baseball Night will be observed at Dietz Stadium this evening when the Kingston Braves tangle with the Saugerties Dutchmen in a pivotal New York-New Jersey league contest. Activities will start at 8 o'clock with the game scheduled to begin about a half hour later.

Two top notch hurlers, Bob Maines of the Braves, and John Mustion of Saugerties, are expected to get the hill assignments. The Dutchmen won a 5-2 decision earlier in the season.

Ulster Dodgers Top Yanks, 9-7

Scoring in every inning, the Dodgers nipped the Yanks, 9-7, in a Town of Hurley Little League game yesterday. The winners had three base hits, all singles, against two hurlers.

Gary Beesmer was the hitting star for the Yanks with three singles in as many trips. Bob Stahl and Randy Koldor scored twice for the winners.

The Masons won the second half laurels in the American Little League as second place Siedler's lost a 10-9 eighth inning thriller yesterday to the Lions. This was the completion of a tie game from June 29. The Masons also captured first round honors in the circuit.

Ken Heppner went 3-4, including a pair of doubles for the winners. Frank McGowan was the winner over Bill Buddenhagen.

Bill Taylor's home run in the last of the ninth gave Buffalo its first game victory, and snapped Ted Wiedand's pitching string at eight victories.

The Sugar Kings broke the nightcap open in the sixth with six runs on four singles, Enrique Izquierdo's double, two walks, an error and a sacrifice fly.

Score Fails, Indians Don't Antonelli Wins 16th Game

Tribe Stops Orioles 8-5; Chisox Get Win

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Herb Score must return to his old 20-game winning form if the Cleveland Indians are to contend for the American League flag. Isn't that what they said last spring?

Well, here it is with more than two thirds of the season gone and Score still struggling to get half those 20 victories, and the Indians? They're not doing too badly—only a game and a half out of the league lead.

As has been the case in recent weeks, Score failed again Friday night but the Indians won. They defeated the Baltimore Orioles 8-5 to stay close on the heels of the Chicago White Sox who whipped the Washington Senators 4-1.

The New York Yankees wrestled fourth place from Kansas City by defeating the Athletics 3-0 and Boston nipped Detroit 4-3 to drop the Tigers into sixth place.

Cicotti Wins It

Score failed for the seventh straight time to notch his 10th triumph although his Indian mates staked him to an early 7-3 lead. After giving up three runs in the first inning, he was knocked out of the box in the fourth and the victory went to his successor, Al Cicotti. The 26-year-old 20-game winner of 1956, who was limited to two victories in each of the last two seasons because of various injuries, has lost nine games, including his last four. Although he leads the league with 137 strikeouts, he has a high 4.29 earned run average.

Billy Goodman supported Buck Shaw's eight-hit pitching with three run-producing singles in the White Sox victory over Washington. Goodman scored the fourth run to take part in all of Chicago's runs. Shaw, who lost his shutout in the eighth, won his 11th game in 14 decisions, his fifth in a row.

Whiteford, recovered from a sore elbow, pitched his first victory since July 19 although he needed help from Ryne Duren. The Yankee southpaw struck out 10 and allowed only five singles before giving way to Duren with two out and two on in the eighth.

Duren halted the Athletics' threat and fanned the side in the ninth to preserve Ford's 11th triumph against six defeats. Bud Daley was the loser, giving up home run balls to Hank Bauer and Yogi Berra. The Yankee catcher needs only one more to enter the exclusive 300 homer club.

Gary Geiger raced home with Boston's winning run on a wild pitch by Detroit's Ray Narleski in the eighth. Geiger earlier had driven in two Red Sox runs with a double. Bill Monbouquette won his fourth game for the Red Sox but he needed help from left fielder Gene Stephens who contributed two running catches and threw a runner out at the plate. Stephens also doubled and singled.

Yesterday's Stars

Youth isn't flaming, says a leader of Civitan International. But under current criticism, some are doing a slow burn.

It was a little "one-horse" hotel in a little one-Ford town, but just at that moment it was filled with newspaper men who had come down to gather details of a rather revolting murder which made good news material. All twenty rooms were filled to overflowing. Reporters slept in the halls on their overcoats, and photographers on their precious cameras. The men did not mind the overcrowding so much—they were used to that—but it was discovered that the only bathtub had been recently painted, and a sign, "Fresh Paint", hung on it.

They gathered around the door in robes and carrying bath towels, and cursed the luck that deprived them of their baths, although how so many could have bathed in one morning was an unsolvable mystery.

Dagley, the oldest and most experienced reporter in the crowd, strolled up at last. Upon seeing him coming some of the younger newsgatherers conceived a bright idea. They removed the "Fresh Paint" sign.

A few minutes later, after splashing and singing, Dagley strolled out of the bathroom, whistling.

Jokers—Don't you feel funny? Dagley—No.

Jokers—But there was a "Fresh Paint" sign on the tub! Dagley—Sure! It was my sign.

Fortune, talent, health—he had everything; but he was married.

Doctor (arranging patient on operating table)—I'll be perfectly frank and tell you that four out of five patients die under this operation. Is there anything I can do for you before I begin?

Patient—Yes—Help me on with my shoes and pants.

Here is one man's formula for success in Bureaucracy: "Shoot the bull, pass the buck, and make seven copies of everything."

Although most of us insist that we're not superstitious, we might feel a bit troubled if Bellboy No. 13 took us to room 1313 in a hotel. In fact, a lot of hotels and office buildings don't have a 13th floor. Today, when

They were discussing dogs, and the tales were getting "pretty tall" when one of the group took the lead.

Bill—Smith had a most intelligent dog. One night Smith's house caught fire. All was instant confusion. Old Smith and his wife flew for the children and bundled them out in quick order. Everyone was saved, but old Rover dashed back through the flames. Soon the animal reappeared, scorched and burned, with—what do you think?

Listener—Give up. Bill—With the fire insurance policy wrapped in a damp towel, gentlemen.

Two motorists pleaded guilty to operating an uninspected motor vehicle and each paid a $5 fine. They were, Robert William Middaugh, 34, of 10 Center Street, and John L. Larkin, 50, of 159 Green Street.

Weird Airplanes Show Up Early At '59 Convention

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP)—Some weird airplanes, born of the do-it-yourself impulse, have dropped from the sky on this city.

They are airplanes built in barns, basements and garages by people with time and money to spend and an irresistible urge to put something different in the sky. "There are darn few things here that look and act like real airplanes," one observer said.

One has four wings, another is powered with an automobile engine. One tiny biplane, "The Flea," is 15 feet long. A Detroit man flew his creation half way here and drove the rest of the distance on the highways.

The strange things began flying and driving in earlier this week with the opening of the annual convention of the Experimental Aircraft Assn., whose 50,000 members must rebuild conventional aircraft or start from scratch to qualify for membership.

Most build airplanes for the same reason others build boats in basements or put dual carburetors on stripped-down cars—the pleasure of creating something new and different.

But some, like W. J. Bryan of Detroit, owner of an aircraft he says can do several hundred miles an hour in the air and 52 m.p.h. on the highway, claim significant breakthroughs in aeronautical engineering.

Bryan says his "Rotobill," which he can fly or drive after eight minutes of rearranging various parts, is "the pioneering answer to the needs of dual transportation all in one—flying and driving."

To Feature Twirler

ROBIN ANN McALLISTER

A Delmar youngster, who has been performing in upstate parades since the age of three, will be featured in a twirling exhibition at the second annual Pageant of Drums scheduled Saturday, Aug. 22, at 8 p. m. in Dietz Stadium.

Robin Ann McAllister will perform at the marching and maneuvering spectacle sponsored by Joyce-Schirick Post 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and its drum corps, the Red Devils.

The little girl, who celebrated her sixth birthday on June 4, received one of her greatest thrills in a three-year career of twirling when she performed at the inaugural ball of Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller last January.

Robin Ann has been twirling under instruction by professional tutors for the past year, and is presently instructed by Maj. John T. Totilas of Stamford, Conn., outstanding in the twirling field.

The youngster has been marching with the Village Fire Fifters of Delmar since she was three years old and has never missed a parade in which they participated. The Pageant of Drums will headline five outstanding corps in the eastern United States. Tickets are on sale in the camera department of the Montgomery Ward store on North Front Street, Kolts Toy Center, Broadway and Foxhall Avenue, and the VFW post home on Delaware Avenue.

Canada Islands Are In Boundary Dispute

OTTAWA (AP)—Ninety-two years after confederation, a tiny section of the boundary between two of Canada's oldest provinces remains a matter of disagreement.

The experts don't like to refer to it as a dispute. But it is evident that Quebec claims certain islands in Lake St. Francis, a widening of the St. Lawrence River, and that Ontario feels they belong within its boundaries.

The problem arises from interpretation of the local boundary in the Lake St. Francis area, where a number of persons have summer residences and a few Indians live. At issue are such matters as whether hunting and fishing should be licensed by Quebec or Ontario.

Federal officials do not figure in the disagreement. They contend the boundary description is a matter of law, and the two provinces should settle the local interpretation between themselves. But the federal government hopes to see a settlement because the St. Lawrence Seaway passes through the stretch of water.

Part of the trouble goes back to the days when Quebec and Ontario were one political unit called the Province of Canada. Prior to taking that name the two areas were known as Upper and Lower Canada.

In 1851 the county of Glengarry, in what now is southeastern Ontario, was defined as extending to the middle of Lake St. Francis and the middle of the main channel of the St. Lawrence River, including the offshore islands.

Two years later the county of Huntingdon, in southwestern Quebec, was described as being partly bounded by the St. Lawrence, "including all islands nearest to the said county and . . . opposite to the same."

The 20-mile stretch of Lake St. Francis involved has about 10 islands in it, all belonging to the St. Regis Indians. Mostly the islands are small—less than a mile by half a mile—and valuable only for hunting and fishing.

Talks have been going on for some time without resolving the problem, and neither Quebec nor Ontario has stated its position publicly.

Hudson Has Water Crisis as City's Lone Main Breaks

A dwindling water supply in the city of Hudson reached crisis proportions late Friday afternoon when its lone water main from the Churchtown Dam burst near Claverack Creek.

An emergency ban was placed on water usage by the city's 12,000 population after the break occurred at 5:25 p. m.

It was reported this morning that employees of the Hudson Department of Public Works had almost repaired the damaged 36-inch main.

In the interim, water from Claverack creek was being used in a heavily chlorinated condition.

The Mt. Ray filter plant, four miles from the break, holds about 1.8 million gallons in its filter beds—about a day's supply.

Hoppey's Restaurant Has Fire in Kitchen

Shortly before 7 p. m., Friday, firemen were dispatched to Hoppey's Restaurant, 286 Wall Street, to extinguish fire that broke out in a broiler in the kitchen.

Firemen used a smoke ejector to clear the establishment of dense smoke. Fire Chief James M. Brett, who was in charge of firemen at the scene later notified Acting Police Chief Robert F. Murphy that policemen at the scene of the fire did an excellent job of handling traffic and keeping an area open for fire apparatus and equipment.

Patrolmen assigned to the fire area were, Robert Bonesteel, Otto Short, George Deyo and Raymond Wells.

Kingston Savings Bank Is Approved To Give FHA Loans

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Kingston Savings Bank has been approved to make FHA property improvement loans to homeowners.

The approval was contained in a letter sent today to Mr. Clifford A. Henze, executive vice president and treasurer of the bank by Mr. Roy F. Cooke, assistant commissioner of the Property Improvement Program of the Federal Housing Administration.

Loans are available to all homeowners for remodeling, improving, additions and repairing homes under the widely-used FHA insured low cost plan.

The moneys loaned for home improvements under this program are from funds of lenders approved by FHA. The Kingston Savings Bank is the most recently approved lender authorized to make these FHA insured loans.

Any individual, contractor or material supply dealer who wishes to participate in this home improvement program is invited to make application at the office of the financial institution.

The benefits of this program have been proven over the past 25 years. More than 23 million families have obtained FHA loans to improve their properties. The total amount of money borrowed by homeowners exceeds $12 billion.

Homeowners can borrow up to $3,500 for periods ranging up to five years. All types of home improvements, such as additions and alterations, painting and decorating, insulating, plumbing and heating, wiring, cement work, grading and landscaping, and others which add life and value to the property are eligible for FHA home improvement loans.

The Federal Housing Administration urges all homeowners to deal only with reputable, established contractors or building supply dealers. A telephone call to the Chamber of Commerce or Better Business Bureau can quickly establish the reliability of a business firm.

Cross-Country Bus Strike Over Now, Routes Operating

NEW YORK (AP)—Most of the nationwide bus routes of Continental American Trailways were back in operation today after a shutdown of more than a year.

Cross-country service from eastern points starts tonight.

A 56-day strike by drivers, mechanics and traffic workers ended last Saturday, and the company has since been busy mustering its staff, reopening offices and tuning up its fleet of 1,000 buses.

Partial service in some areas was resumed early this week, and the reactivation has been gradually expanded through the week.

The company, before the strike, served more than three million passengers annually over 14,965 route miles in 28 states from coast to coast.

Main issue in the drawn-out dispute with the Amalgamated Assn. of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America, was wages. A settlement finally was announced Aug. 1.

With eastbound cross-country buses already on the road, the spokesman said westbound buses headed for the West Coast would begin moving out of eastern cities tonight.

First departure will be from Washington, D. C., with main stops in Waynesboro, Pa.; Pittsburgh, Chicago, Omaha, Salt Lake City, and San Francisco.

Other buses, from both New York City and Washington, will leave Sunday, bound for the West Coast.

Ire in Ireland

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—A government commission's recommendation that Ireland relax its liquor laws, permitting liquor sales on Sunday, has met strong disapproval of the country's Roman Catholic bishops. Instead of relaxing the law, they said, there ought to be more restrictions on liquor sales and "especially genuine enforcement" of present regulations.

Steel Strike At-A-Glance

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

IDLE: Half a million United Steelworkers who struck the basic steel industry 25 days ago and about 107,000 employees in allied industries.

NEGOTIATIONS: Joint industry-union talks in recess for the weekend. Stated to resume Monday in New York. Federal Mediation Chief Joseph P. Finnegan says the talks are encouraging but says there has been no progress.

WASHINGTON DEVELOPMENTS: Thirty-one Democratic senators join Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) in urging the President to try to speed up settlement of the strike.

PRODUCTION AND WAGE LOSSES: Industry loses about 300 million dollars worth of business each week; strikers lose nearly 70 million dollars in wages each week.

ISSUES: Union wants a 15-cent-an-hour wage hike plus fringe benefits. Industry rejects these demands, claiming higher labor costs will bring about an inflationary rise in steel prices.

Air Force Sends Long $4,251 Bill For Use of Planes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force has given Gov. Earl K. Long of Louisiana 30 days to pay a $4,251 bill for unauthorized use of National Guard planes.

But the governor apparently is in no hurry to pay the bill which may cover the flight on which Mrs. Long and others took him to a mental clinic in Texas.

He told newsmen Friday that he would leave a down payment on the bill "in my will."

"I will look it over and give it careful consideration," Long said in New Orleans.

"All I can keep from paying, I will."

"I want to see some congressmen and other people billed. When they pay, I pay. I don't believe I'll have to pay all that."

The Air Force sent the bill to Long as the governor and therefore the head of the National Guard in Louisiana. It did not say that he had ordered the flights.

The planes were used for 45 hours and 45 minutes sometime in April, May, June and July, the Air Force said, without being more specific. Long was taken to the clinic in Galveston on June 30. Those on the flight included Maj. Gen. Raymond Hufft, adjutant general of the Louisiana National Guard.

Police said Mrs. Smith told them she was making a left turn from Cornell Street into Smith Avenue when she lost control of the car. The vehicle jumped the curb, crashed through a fence and smashed into the kitchen of the Schryver residence. According to police records, the kitchen was wrecked, a window was broken, and three ladders and a chaise lounge were damaged.

Humid Weather Causes Mushroom Plants' Layoffs

Recent humid weather, unfavorable to mushroom growth, has made necessary a series of layoffs in the mushroom growing plants of Knaust Brothers, Inc., in Ulster, Greene, Columbia and Albany Counties, a company official announced.

Henry Knaust of West Camp, who with his brother, Herman, of Saugerties direct the activities of the firm, said Friday some of the layoffs would be complete in some instances and partial in others.

Layoffs for workers in the growing plants not protected by unemployment insurance as agricultural workers, are largely partial, with work being rotated to minimize hardship for those affected, Knaust said. Workers at the Hudson canning plant are protected and there layoffs are complete.

The number of workers involved in the layoffs was not disclosed. The firm employs over 500 men and women.

Knaust said he hoped that the layoffs would be "very temporary" — not more than a month and perhaps only 10 days.
